

SIGNING YOUR FIRST CLIENT

Signing your first client

- Now that your offer is built, its time to sign your first client
- Signing your first client is one of the most important steps because it builds momentum for your online business
- What you have to know is that your first client is more important to you than you are to them

Signing your first client

- Because of this, I typically recommend for your first 2-3 clients to be free clients
- Ultimately this depends on where you are in your coaching career; if you have a lot of experience, are confident, and have demand then charge your price
- If you're just getting started with nothing, take on a few free clients

Signing your first client

- When you are getting started from scratch, you need to prioritize social proof by collecting real results, case studies, and testimonials
- A case study is an example of a client transformation going through your program
- A testimonial is written word or video of your clients experience

Signing your first client

- The more transformations you collect the more valuable your program becomes
- Getting your first few clients in exchange for case studies and testimonials will build up your momentum and reputation and in a year from now you will be able to charge whatever you want

Signing your first client

- All you need to do to sign your first client is to reach out to people in you network who you feel would do a good job and ask if you could coach them for free in exchange of a testimonial and transformation pictures
- Dont think super hard about who, anyone works, even family or friends

Signing your first client

- One important thing to note here is to get transformations, case studies, and testimonials early because free clients don't have the investment to commit to a long term program.
- 4-6 weeks is typically the lifespan we find here
- Start by bringing on as many free clients as you can until you have a roster of 3-5

INCREASING PRICES

Signing your first client

- Once your roster starts to build and you post content around your results, you can start increasing your prices.
- Not everyone is going to start off charging the same, I recommend charging what you feel confident in first and increasing as you gain experience

| # OF CLIENTS | CURRENT PRICE | INCREASED PRICE |
|---------------------|----------------------|------------------------|
| 0-5          | FREE          | $100/mo        |
| 5-10         | $100/mo      | $200/mo        |
| 10-20        | $200/mo      | $300/mo        |
| 20-30        | $300/mo      | $350/mo        |

Signing your first client

- Use your own discretion with this chart but this is an example of how you can raise your prices as your skills, knowledge, experience, and reputation increase
- Take on your first few clients to build momentum, then increase your prices as your team grows.
