

ANNOUNCING YOUR OFFER

ANNOUNCING YOUR OFFER

- In this lesson, we are going to show you how to launch your coaching offer on your social media platforms
- We will break down the formula and structure for your announcement, and the mindset behind promoting your offer

THE STRUCTURE

ANNOUNCING YOUR OFFER

- Your coaching announcement will be a post where you directly talk about your coaching offer and make a hard call to action
- The purpose of this post is to draw attention to your offer, raise awareness, and interest
- Let's break down the structure of your coaching announcement

HOOK

TRANSFORMATION

OFFER

CALL TO ACTION

Coaching Announcement

- Hook: directly call out your ideal clients attention and draw them into the post
- Transformation: share your story (or clients) on the results you've seen (or helped others achieve)
- Offer: announce your offer, what's it called, who's it for, how's it work
- Call to Action: tell people what step to take next

ANNOUNCING YOUR OFFER

- For your hook, you will want to call out your ideal client and draw them into reading your full post
- “If you are looking to XYZ in the next X days, stop scrolling and read this!”
- “Are you tired of feeling XYZ, I recently discovered a new solution that I want to share with you below”

ANNOUNCING YOUR OFFER

- For transformation, you should either share the results you've seen personally, or results of your clients
- “X years ago I used to struggle with XYZ and felt XYZ. Fast forward to today and I have achieved XYZ and feel XYZ”

ANNOUNCING YOUR OFFER

- “Over the last X (months / years), I’ve been able to help X clients overcome XYZ. They struggled with XYZ and felt XYZ. Now they’ve been able to achieve XYZ and feel XYZ.”
- Get creative with what story you want to tell, but make it specific to your ideal clients pain points / desires.

ANNOUNCING YOUR OFFER

- Offer is where you introduce your program, here you will talk about what it is, who its for, and how it works
- “I am now launching YOUR PROGRAM and taking on clients who want to achieve XYZ. This is an online transformation program for anyone who is serious about getting X results.”

ANNOUNCING YOUR OFFER

- Call to Action is where you will drive your audience to the next step
- “This may be the program for you to finally see XYZ, DM me the word X to get started”
- “Comment the word X to get started”
- “Apply with the link in my bio”

givemhealth Hey ladies, if you're thinking about getting into fitness and you need a coach to hold you accountable, THIS IS YOUR SIGN TO DO IT - Reach out to me and join the GIVEMHEALTH community 🔥

✨ Swipe ✨ —> to see my first progress pic and the most unhappy I've ever been with my health (Feb 2020).

Not a whole lot wrong with where I was physically BUT I was not in control AT ALL and I felt it internally.

AT THAT TIME:

- I exercised inconsistently but far too often
- focused on cardio not weight training
- wasn't eating enough to sustain muscle or even lose weight
- limited the foods I liked thinking they were "bad"
- I stressed about balance with my social life on the weekends

NOW:

- consistently exercising and taking proper rest days
- focusing on resistance training and progressive overload
- eating MORE to build up a healthy metabolism, brain, and hormone function
- eating the foods I like because I want to
- I'm overall more fun to be around because I'm happier so I enjoy my weekends completely

✨ I feel great ✨ If you want to feel great too, LETS TALK. I may be the coach for you!

ANNOUNCING YOUR OFFER

- You should post this on all platforms where you have an audience (instagram, facebook, tiktok)
- One singular post will not be enough to drive traffic to your offer, but it will be the start of promotion and awareness for your business
- Post an announcement post at least once a month consistently

MINDSET & EXPECTATIONS

ANNOUNCING YOUR OFFER

- To set realistic expectations, this announcement post is just one small drop in a massive bucket
- Dont overthink this post, just put it out there
- Let go of expectations that this post has to be perfect or perform a certain way

ANNOUNCING YOUR OFFER

- Realistically, it will take numerous posts and calls to action to drive results from your content, so don't get hung up on just 1 post
- Be prepared to market your offer consistently with consistent posts
- The goal here should be to get the post up, bring awareness and interest to your offer, and do it again

ANNOUNCING YOUR OFFER

- Mindset: This post is a small drop in a massive bucket, dont make mountains out of mole hills
- Expectations: Expect to raise interest and awareness to your offer, but in order to convert you will need to announce your offer consistently