

CONVERSATION STARTERS

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Now that you're creating content and bringing eyes and attention to your page, it's time to start conversations with the people landing on your page
- A big mistake trainers make online is hoping, waiting, wishing for people to reach out to them

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- When you do this you will be missing out on so much opportunity to help people who wouldn't otherwise reach out and you leave the success of your business up to fate
- Instead what we are going to do is reach out to your ideal clients and bring the next step in the funnel to them

CONTENT

CLOSE

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Sales Funnel:
- Social Media Content → Conversations
- Conversations → Sales Process
- Sales Process → Close

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Once the lead is generated, the next step is to get them to the sales process
- To do that, we need to bridge the gap by starting conversations
- In this lesson we are going to teach you where to find leads online, how to start conversations with strangers online, and how to lead them to the next step in the process

INBOUND VS OUTBOUND

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- The best 2 platforms to do this are on Instagram and Facebook since the private messenger feature is seamless to use
- Ultimately the goal with this first step is to simply just start the conversation
- There's many different ways to do this and where going to segment the two between inbound and outbound

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Inbound leads are people who reach out to you to inquire about your offer
- This can be submitted through a coaching application, responding to your story, sending you a dm, asking a question, or anything that brings the prospect to you

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Outbound leads are leads that you reach out to
- These can be to people who are in your network, watch your stuff, and engage with your posts; or to people who are total strangers
- Put simply, outbound leads are prospects you bring your offer to

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- There are different methods used to acquire each lead, though once the lead is acquired the process leading them to the next step is exactly the same (were going to teach you how to lead them to the next step in the next lesson)
- Lets start with how to acquire inbound leads

INBOUND TRAFFIC

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Inbound traffic is great because it means the lead is hot and ready to sign up
- They've been watching you, consuming your content, and made the decision to reach out and inquire about your offer
- Ideally we would live in a world filled with inbound traffic and have people flooding to work with you

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- However, inbound can be unpredictable and waiting for them to come is death
- The good news is that as your business grows you will build more social proof which will increase inbound traffic
- When you're just getting started we can increase inbound traffic significantly with calls to action and your coaching application

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- The beautiful thing about inbound traffic via coaching application is that we've already built it together.
- Inbound leads will be able to apply for coaching via the website in your social media profiles
- Once the lead has been generated via application use the conversation script in the next lesson to book them for a call

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Another source of inbound traffic is in your DMs.
- Anyone who reaches out to you to ask you questions about your offer, or anyone who simply asks for advice in general
- If they are reaching out to you in any way shape or form, this is a potential prospect that you can lead to the next step

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Once a lead has been identified in the DMs you can use the conversation script in the next lesson to book them for a call
- Important tip: if someone is a lead in your DMs, you do not need them to apply for coaching. You can bypass this by booking them straight to your calendar. Do this to reduce friction

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- So the question now is, how do we produce more inbound traffic
- How can we lead more people to your application to get more inbound leads
- And how can we get more people reaching out to you in the DMs

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- The answer is through Calls to Action
- A Call to Action is a statement in which you are speaking for your audience to take a next step
- There are 2 types of Calls to Action
- Soft Calls to Action and Hard Calls to Action

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Soft Calls to Action are 1-2 sentences at the end of a piece of content to bring attention to the next step
- A hard Call to Action is a piece of content who's sole purpose is to bring attention to the next step

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- To make a soft Call to Action simply add a sentence at the end of you post or video
- “Apply for coaching”
- “Send me a DM”
- “Respond to this poll”
- etc.

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- To make a hard Call to Action you want to call out who youre speaking to (your ideal client), what their goals are, what their challenges are, what your method is, what will happen if they join your program, why they should join now, and what next steps to take

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Hard Call to Action Example: “Summer is around the corner, and if you want to feel confident in your body now is the time to get started. Over the last 12 months I’ve worked with 100+ guys to help them get stronger, leaner, and more confident. I’m taking on new clients who want to get results using our macro method. Sign up now!”

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Soft CTA's are subtle
- Hard CTA's are in your face
- You should be doing both
- Soft CTA's 3-4x per week
- Hard CTA's 2x per month

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Calls to Action will help increase the flow of inbound traffic by directing your audience to the next step
- It is best to combine consistent CTA's with audience growth online. The bigger the audience the more inbound traffic you will have

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- However, if you don't have a ton of inbound leads coming from your CTA's we can still generate consistent leads using outbound methods.

OUTBOUND TRAFFIC

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Outbound traffic is going to get uncomfortable
- It will require you to reach out to people and bring your offer to them
- But remember that you are here to help, you are not being salesy or pushy, you are simply here to provide value and help your ideal clients reach their goals. Rewrite the story in your head

CONVERSATION STARTERS

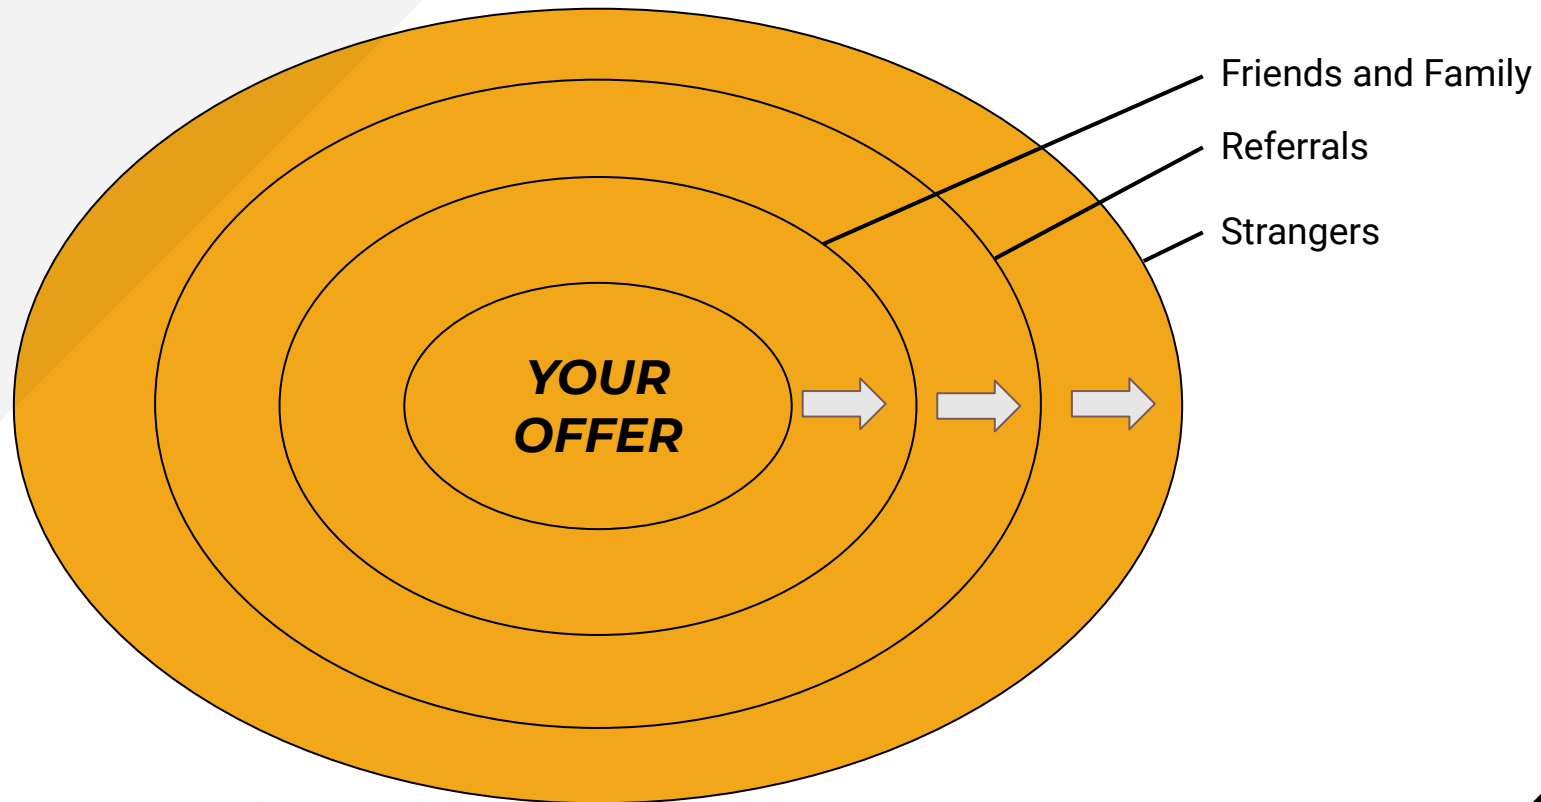

- The hardest part about outbound traffic is finding the leads, but once you have the leads you take them through the conversation script in the next lesson as you would with inbound traffic
- For that reason we are going to stick to where/how to find outbound leads

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- You should always start closest to you, then move outwards in your circle.
- The easiest clients you will ever sign are the ones who already know, like, and trust you
- These are the people who already see you as credible and will be easier to win over than total strangers, also known as warm audience

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Too many trainers think they are going to start an online business and start working with strangers from out of the ether, also known as cold audience.
- When in reality it starts close to home then ripples outward

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- First place we're going to start is close to home
- To do this, pull up your contacts on your personal phone and message every single person in your contact
- It does not matter how well or little you know them, or how long it's been since you've last chatted

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- What you need to start is clients and you need to prove to others you can deliver results
- It doesn't matter where your first clients come from, no one online will be able to tell
- Also you never know who in your network is looking for help that you will be able to provide

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- When it comes to reaching out to people who already know, like, and trust you its better to be direct. You dont need to build rapport since its already been established.
- Plus being direct respects the relationship
- There will be a script in the next lesson that contains the initial messages I will share here

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- For these first clients send this message, “Hey ____, hope youre doing well! I wanted to touch base and let you know that I’m taking on clients who want to achieve (result). Your name came to mind, would you be opposed to hearing how it works?”

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Send this message to every person that you know, those that are interested book them for a call following the steps in the conversation script.
- Once youve gone through everyone in your personal contacts its time to move to your next source of warm potential clients: your platforms

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Your instagram and facebook platforms have people who actively follow you.
- You can easily message them without having to build much rapport
- Again, go through every single person and send them the same initial message as you did for friends and family

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- As you are going through your follower/friends lists also go through your likes and story views on recent posts
- Once a week you should message everyone who is actively watching your stories and everyone who is liking your posts. These are your warmest leads as they are consuming your content (show examples)

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- If it is a follow that you do not know and theres no previous rapport built, take a minute to introduce yourself, build rapport, then make the ask
- Say this: “Whatup ____, I noticed you follow me and wanted to get connected. How’re you doing?”
- This is a simple message to open up the conversation. From here you can move onto the script

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- The goal here is to simply start the conversation. You are not pitching, you are not selling, you are simply starting a conversation
- So don't put so much pressure on this step, shoot your shot and see where you land. You have nothing to lose and both sides have so much to gain.

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Once you go through your 100% of your friends and followers on your social media platforms you can start creating engagement posts to start conversations
- Engagement posts are pieces of content that get your audience to respond and interact with your content

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- These are great because they're fun for your audience, and make an easy way to start a conversation
- Engagement posts can be related to your offer, or unrelated to your offer. It doesn't matter as the intention is to start a conversation

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Examples of engagement posts are:
- Polls
- Question boxes
- Quizzes
- Sliding scales

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- An engagement post related to your offer can be a poll that says “Whats your current goal? Build Muscle or Lose Weight”
- Anyone who engages with that poll is a potential lead you can reach out to and start the conversation

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- An engagement post unrelated to your niche can be a question box that says “Whats your favorite food: burgers, pizza, tacos, or wings”
- Anyone who engages with this also a potential lead you can reach out to

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- You can get creative to realize the potential of how many options you can use with this strategy
- To open the conversation all you need to say is:
“Whatsup____, I saw you interacted with my post and wanted to connect. How are you doing?”
- Simple, yet effective. Remember the goal is to start a conversation, no selling or any hard pitch.

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Another strategy is to offer what's called "Hand Raisers"
- A hand raiser is a piece of content that's free for your ideal client, but requires them to opt-in
- Examples of hand raisers are free guides, trainings, ebooks, youtube videos, or podcast

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Its any type of long form content that solves a problem for your ideal client as is seen as valuable
- The key here is instead of posting or giving it away for free at first, make it an exclusive offer for anyone who's interested.

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Ask your audience if there interested to: leave a comment, send a dm, vote on a poll, or any call to action
- From here, anyone who comments you can reach out to and send them the exclusive content

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Anyone who opts-in to the hand raiser you can send them this message: “Whatsup____, thank you so much for (whatever cta action they took). I’m going to send you (the free training). Whats your email?”
- After they send you their contact info you can move on with the conversation script

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- These hand raisers can be done on all platforms and they are a great way to slide into peoples DMs because they are literally giving you permission to reach out to them.
- Here are some examples

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Free facebook groups are a great way to attract leads into your network
- The strategy here is to create a free facebook community that's based around solving the problem your ideal clients are facing
- Offer free content like Q&A's, Lives, and Trainings

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- As people join your facebook group your audience in that group will grow into another resource you can use for leadgen
- When people join your facebook group you can edit membership request questions to a mini application. These questions serve as a mini coaching application

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Facebook only allows you to ask 3 questions here so your best bet is to ask:
- “What are your current goals?”
- “What is your number 1 challenge in achieving that goal?”
- “Would you like me to reach out and offer support?”

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- These methods are also known as organic lead generation because you are relying on what you've organically grown in your audience.
- All of these methods are free as well as they do not cost any money to acquire the lead
- When you are first getting started with your business you should focus on organic

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Next we are going to venture away from warm audiences into colder networks
- Eventually you will reach a point where you've reached out to everyone you possibly can. This is called liquidating your audience
- Once you've liquidated your audience its time to ask your current clients for referrals

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Word of mouth builds strong authority for you and your business
- If someone refers you to another person there is an association bias that makes you trust worthy
- If someone they trust trusts you, then they can trust you to
- This is why referrals are so strong

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- After you've sifted through your closest network, begin asking your clients for referrals
- Do not make the mistake of waiting for referrals come to you, or the fatal mistake of asking the referral to reach out to you
- Instead, you must ask, you must collect the info, and you must reach out

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- To ask for a referral say this: “Whatsup _____, I’m taking on new clients who want to achieve (result). Would you happen to know anyone this would be a good fit for?”
- When they say yes, ask if its okay for you to reach out to them about your offer

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- You'll find that most people won't have any names on the spot because it will require work for them to think about it
- But you'll have a few clients who send a laundry list of name
- 80% of referrals come from 20% of clients
- Ask often as well, once a month

COLD TRAFFIC

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Once you've tapped into all of your resources its time to tap into cold traffic
- Cold traffic is last because it is most difficult
- It requires you to stand out against the competition online to people who have no clue who you are whatsoever

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- This is why content positioning is so important.
The stronger profile you have online the more you will stand out
- To find potential clients to message online you need to think creatively where they are
- What does your ideal client like? What content do they consume? And where can you meet them?

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Hashtags, brand pages, influencers, or any popular page who's audience aligns with your ideal client are what you want
- When you search these hashtags, and pages you can tap into their followers, likes, and comments
- The key here is to find the right pages that contain a surplus of potential clients

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- In the “Tracking Systems” lesson we are going to give you a tracker to help you determine what your best places online are to find your clients
- Every coach will look a little different depending on your ideal client

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Think outside of the box
- Dont search generic #weightloss #gym hashtags or any obvious pages
- Chances are 1) people are being bombarded with outreach on these pages already and 2) these people are not your ideal client if theyre already posting about their fitness journey

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Your potential client will look different than your ideal client
- Your ideal client may be a motivated strong hard working female, but motivated strong hard working females might already be training and eating efficiently

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Your potential client wants to BECOME the motivated strong hard working female
- You have to look for people who are looking for that transformation, not the people who are that person already

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Take a look at who is on your roster already because they've already proven to pay you, then ask yourself where can I find more people like this
- If you want to find successful young men, look at family photography
- If you want to find postpartum moms, look at baby toys

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- If you want to find college students, look up your local college
- If you want to find athletes, look up sports performance gear
- If you want to find active duty military, look up military themed pages
- Think outside of the fitness space

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Do not cherry pick
- It is very difficult to judge a book by its cover. You will not be able to know who would be a good potential client based on their profile alone
- Cherrypicking is when you pick and choose who you think will be the best people to message based on your judgement. Do not do this

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- There are a certain criteria a profile should meet:
- They should have 500+ followers (1,000+ is ideal)
- They should have recent posts within the last month
- If they're public see if they have story posts
- Bonus points if they have profile pic, bio, and highlights set up

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- The reason these criteria are important is because it will show whether or not they use social media
- If they have a good following and recent posts then theres a higher chance they will read your message since they use social media often
- If they have no posts in over a year and have a low following they likely dont use social often

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- As long as they meet these parameters message them, outside of this do not cherry pick
- When coming across profiles online you are going to find 2 types of pages: public and private
- Remember you do not need to come in with a huge sales pitch, all you have to do is start a conversation

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Public pages are easier to do this because you have more to work with
- You can respond to one of their stories directly, send them a post of theirs that you like with a compliment, or send them a direct message

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- For public accounts say: “Whatsup_____! I know we dont know each other, but I came across your account on the explore page and wanted to connect. I’m (your name) and I’m an online fitness coach. I love your content! Hows your week been going so far?”

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Private accounts will be a little more difficult because you cant leverage the public content they have to create a conversation
- You'll have to go in with a direct message
- To prevent these from being ignored in the requests have a profile worth responding to

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- For private accounts say this: “Whatsup____, I came across your page as a suggested follow. I wanted to reach out and introduce myself. My name is (your name) and I’m an online fitness coach. I love your content!!! Hows your week been going to far?”

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- In order for cold outbound traffic to work well you need to have really good social proof online in order for people to respond (good looking profile)
- Even then, outbound is a numbers game.
- Not everyone will respond and not everyone will book a call, but with a good system you will be able to book consistent calls

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- KPI for outbound messaging is 1-3% calls booked
- So for every 100 messages you send you should book 1-3 calls
- Outbound messaging is work, but the good news is once you find a source of leads and an opening message that works you can outsource it to a virtual assistant

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Ideally the goal with lead generation is to grow your audience with your content to have an ever-growing amount of leads to reach out to. Combine this with outbound messaging that becomes outsourced to a VA and you will have consistent clients to work with

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- If you have a hard time reaching out to people online because you feel too salesy or pushy remember this: you are here to serve and make other peoples lives better
- You have a skill as a coach to help people transform and it is your obligation to help as many people as possible

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- It is a responsibility for you to put yourself out there to bring your offer to the lives who need it most
- Believe that you are changing peoples lives in a positive way. Share that with as many people as possible

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- Another thing to remember is that you are not selling anyone in the DMs. All you are doing is simply starting a conversation
- Come from a place of connecting authentically with as many people as possible. Those who are fit for your program will filter into the next step
- This way you are only making an offer to those who want it

CONVERSATION STARTERS

- You are here to change lives
- Put yourself out there and bring your offer to those who need it most
