

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

- Your social media profile is likely the first point of contact between you and your potential client
- You are either going to contact them, they will find you organically, their friend will refer them, or you will meet them in person and tell them to follow you. No matter where they come from they are going to come across your profile

- Your profile needs to be positioned as an authority in your field in order for you as the coach to be congruent with your offer
- Positioning is how you portray yourself online and how you want others to see you

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

- Lets say you have a passion for fitness and music and your friends know you for both
- Posting fitness content and client results would position you as a fitness coach
- Posting you playing songs and live shows would position you as a musician

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

- Though you would be the same person with the same passions, how you position yourself online will determine how others see you
- In order for you to be seen as a fitness coach, you need your content to show that for you
- That way as soon as they land on your page, they know who you are and what you do

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

- You are then able to control their perception of you and see you as the person you want to be seen as: The Fitness Coach
- This is going to be done through your profile picture, name, bio, highlights, stories, and feed

THE SETUP

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

- The first thing to start with is your social media name. Make it as readable and searchable as possible
- If you have a long confusing name that's hard for people to spell or if you have punctuation and numbers it adds more friction

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

- For example, we had a student whose Instagram name was stonescopettueolo (first and last name), he then changed it to stonejfit
- The shorter version is easier for people to remember, and stands out with the word fit
- You don't need to have the word fit in your name, but it does help new users identify it as a fitness page

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

- Your profile picture comes next, what's important here is that you have an easy to identify photo as you
- It can be a headshot or full body, but it needs to be you
- Do not have a photo of your logo or any other meme

- People get on social media to interact with other humans, not brand pages
- Make sure that you can see your face in the photo as well
- Try not to have dark shadows or backlight photos that cover your face

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

- With an easy to read name and clean profile picture people will be more likely to engage with your account in the dms
- Next to clean up is your social media bio
- All you need here is 3 simple components: I help statement, qualifications, call to action

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

- Your social media bio is one of the first things people see when they come to your profile so it will immediately position you as an expert if done correctly
- You only have a small amount of space for your bio too so its important to use it efficiently

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

- I help statement should be condensed to ideal client and result
- “I help XYZ achieve ABC”
- It doesnt need to be in depth here, this is enough to let your ideal client know what you do and who you help

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

- Next is qualifications if you have any:
certifications, degrees, number of client transformations
- If you dont have qualifications to share here you can put the name of your program

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

- Your call to action is simply the next step you want your ideal client to take
- Call to action examples: “Click the link down below”, “Send me XYZ to get started”, “Want to achieve XYZ?”
- Calls to action will lead your ideal client to take the next step like a big red arrow sign

- A social media bio properly set up would look like:
- Zakk Colburn | Fitness Coach
- I help men become stronger than their limits
- Next Level Transformation - 100+ transformations
- Ready to get started?

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

- Don't think about this too hard. It doesn't need to be perfect and it is allowed to change over time.
- Across all platforms you are going to have to update name, profile picture, bio (FB, IG, YT, Tiktok)
- Facebook and Youtube you will need a custom banner, if you plan on using these you can get one custom made on Fiverr

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

- When you're using Instagram you will have a highlight reel feature where you can strategically place important information
- I find that there are 2 types of content that work best here for your business: Testimonials and Personal Story

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

- If you have video testimonials, these will work great to build massive social proof and authority. When people see others who have worked with you and seen success it builds trust in your offer and can sometimes be enough to get them to apply right then and there

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

- If you don't have testimonials then a highlight reel of your personal journey and transformation, along with your offer will fit well too
- Sharing your personal transformation will serve as an introduction into who you are and will build the relationship with your ideal client

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

- All you need to do here is share before photos or videos along with a description of who you used to be, how you used to feel, and the challenges you used to face
- Then share what inspired you to make a change and what process you followed to get results
- Lastly share after photos or videos with a description of you who are now and how you feel

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

- To share your offer have a video talking about what your offer is, who its for, the challenges you help people over come, the transformation you deliver, and how people can work with you
- Having these 2 highlights will warm up any new person that lands on your page

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

- Below the highlight reel, you are going to see your profile grid (on instagram)
- Your profile grid should be made up of content related to your ideal client so that when they click on any recent post it draws in their attention
- We will go over in more detail what content to create and how in a later lesson in this module

SETTING UP YOUR PROFILE

- But for now, make sure that your most recent posts are positioned correctly for your offer
- If there are no posts yet related to your offer then your job in this module is to create and post that content
- Lets look at some example profiles to complete this lesson
